

Tennessee Extension Leadership Academy

2026 - 2027

Background

UT Extension embraces its mission and vision by investing in the development of highly engaged personnel who serve their community, office, and Extension through the Tennessee Extension Leadership Academy. During TELA, employees will explore their strengths and learn how to utilize those strengths to lead others and to contribute to an organizational culture where employees thrive. Extension aims to enable participants to better serve as leaders in any role or capacity and to prepare employees for leadership roles across the organization.

*"If your actions inspire others to dream more, learn more, do more and become more, you are a leader."
— John Quincy Adams*

Program Structure

TELA utilizes a variety of learning strategies including multi-day events, hands on activities, webinars, partner site visits and two opportunities for skills application:

Group Leadership Book Application

Participants will read a pre-selected book and work with a group to facilitate a leadership activity for the rest of the cohort members during the third session.

Individual Leadership Journey Plan

Participants will develop a culminating plan to apply leadership concepts and skills gained over the course of TELA in a way that aligns with each individual's personal and professional interests. This plan will be presented during the fourth session.

Participants

Employees with a regular, full-time Extension appointment who have been employed for at least three years are eligible to apply. Qualifying applicants include but are not limited to: administrative assistants, agents, county directors, program assistants, specialists, or support staff.

Time Commitment

Applicants agree to fully participate in all TELA events and fulfill program requirements. Before applying, please make sure that you have all dates available and are willing to commit additional time for independent projects.
